Frequently-Asked Questions

Visa

1 Do I need to apply for a visa? What type of visa should I apply?

We suggest all seasonal program (3 months course) students to apply for a visa for language learning (visa code: FR) at the Taiwan representative office in their region. If you enter visa-free, you are not eligible for visa extensions or government scholarships, such as HES or MOFA.

2 How do I apply for a visitor visa or resident visa of FR code?

To apply for a visa for language learning (visa code: FR), bring your MTC admission letter to the nearest ROC embassy, consulate, or representative agency. The admission letter is valid only for the term for which it was issued. Please contact the nearest embassy or consulate (<http://www.taiwanembassy.org>) for any other required documents for a visa application.

3 How long can I stay on a visitor visa of FR type?

For language learning, ROC consulates typically grant a visitor visa valid for 60 or 90 days with a single entry. (In some countries, you may pay more to apply for a multiple-entry FR visa.) Before your 60- or 90-day visa expires, you can apply for a visa extension in Taiwan up to 180 days provided you submit the necessary documents. If your visa is non-extendable or no further extensions are granted, you must leave Taiwan to obtain a new visa.

4 I didn't enter Taiwan on a visitor visa of FR type. Can I change the type of visitor visa I hold after I register in the MTC?

No, the FR type visa is not available in Taiwan. Please note that a visitor visa of the FR type can only be applied overseas. You must leave Taiwan to apply for it.

5 My country is on the list of 90-days visa exempt countries. Can I come to study at MTC without applying for a visa?

If you plan to study at the MTC less than three months, you can certainly use visa exemption to enter the country. The 90-day visa counts from the next day of your arrival. Please arrange your travel accordingly.

6 I want to study for 3 terms or more. Can I stay longer without having to leave the country?

Visitor visa (code: FR) holders who have studied in the same language school for four months consecutively and have continued to register for more than three months, and whose total absence hours do not exceed 1/4 of the total class hours may change their visa to Alien Resident Certificate (ARC).

Note: all benefits, including visa extension, Alien Resident Certificate (ARC), work permit, and National Health Insurance, are available only to FR visa holders.

Accommodation

1 Does MTC provide a dormitory for students?

MTC does not provide a dormitory for students. Students usually stay in a hostel for a few days and look for long-term accommodation.

2 Will MTC help me find accommodation?

Please turn to p.18 or visit the MTC website (“Students/ Accommodation”) for recommended temporary or long-term stays.

3 How much does the average rent cost in Taipei?

The rent depends on your room type (separate room or suite) and the area. The rent in Taipei is about NT$ 10,000 to NT$ 15,000 per month. In addition, you usually need to pay a two-month deposit when signing up for the lease.
